

GIRL'S LOVE NOTES TO ORPET RULED OUT

Judge Refuses to Let Miss Youker's Letters Be Read by the Morbid.

FOUR JURORS SECURED

CHICAGO, May 20.—Celeste Youker's love for Will Orpet will not be laid bare at the trial of Orpet in Waukegan for the murder of Marian Lambert. Kind hearted old Judge Donnelly ruled today that the love letters which she wrote to Orpet would not be admitted into the evidence in the case.

The Judge told State Attorney Ralph J. Dady that the contents of the six letters in the possession of the State were not to be revealed before the jury and the threat of a morbid curiosity which crowds the tiny courtroom each day.

"These love letters are full of sentiment and endearment," the Judge said. "In them this girl pours out her heart; and I do not think the letters should be read by any one except the one to whom they were sent and for whom the terms of the case are intended."

The prosecution, however, maintained that certain parts in the letters were necessary to the State's case outlining Orpet's love for Miss Youker with his desire to be rid of the schoolgirl of whose love he had tired.

For the first time since the opening of the Orpet trial Mrs. Charles Youker, the mother of Celeste, consented to talk of her daughter's friendship with Orpet. "She may be a witness in the case," said Mrs. Youker. "But I don't believe that her testimony will be valuable."

State Attorney Dady, who made a secret trip to Waukegan a week ago to see the Youker family, declared that Miss Youker's testimony would help prove Orpet's guilt.

"Her testimony will do nothing of the sort," said Mrs. Youker. "My daughter was very much in love with Will Orpet," Mrs. Youker continued, "but I will not say whether they were engaged. She had never heard of this poor little Lambert girl until after this terrible affair. We did not tell her about it for two weeks, because Celeste was ill at that time and we feared that news of Orpet's association with Miss Lambert might cause a relapse. My daughter intends to study chemistry when she has fully recovered."

A report that Edward O. Orpet, father of the accused student, tried to destroy the evidence against his son when he disposed of a quantity of the same kind of poison which caused Miss Lambert's death, created a stir among close followers of the trial. It was reported that State Attorney Dady, county prosecutor, would make that one of his principal contentions.

The elder Orpet is the caretaker of the estate of Cyrus McCormick in Lake Forest, and in connection with his duties uses large quantities of potassium cyanide as a plant spray. The story circulated today was to the effect that Mr. Orpet had instructed the McCormick chauffeur to get rid of a quantity of the poison which was on a shelf in the greenhouse of the estate.

After six days of questioning, during which about 400 verbatim were examined, the first four of the jurors who will try Orpet were selected and sworn in today. They are:

L. E. Barthel, 31 years old, iseman, from Antioch; H. F. King, 21 years old, married, clerk from Area; G. A. Thompson, 26 years old, a farmer; E. W. Willoughby, Deerfield, 31 years old, also a farmer.

PERJURY CHARGES FAIL

Bury Disgrace in Case Resulting From New Haven Verdict.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 20.—After being locked up for eighteen hours a jury in the County Court reported to Judge Young today that they could not agree in the trial of Joseph Sharkey for perjury and were discharged.

Sharkey was indicted following the trial of the suit of Oscar Fried, who obtained a verdict for $75,000 against the New Haven road for the loss of both arms. The New Haven detectives then worked up evidence to show that perjury had been committed by witnesses for the plaintiff and Justice Morschauser of the Supreme Court set aside the verdict and granted a new trial.

Sharkey and Thomas Berkery, another witness for Fried, were indicted. Berkery turned State's evidence and aided Assistant District Attorney Fallon in the prosecution of Sharkey. Berkery testified that he never turned the switch which sent 11,000 volts through Fried and burned off his arms, though Sharkey swore that he did.

HEALTH SHOW TO OPEN

Preparedness to Be Keynote of Seum of Safety Exposition.

Preparedness will be the keynote of the third national exposition of safety and health, which opens tomorrow at the Grand Central Palace, under the auspices of the American Museum of Safety. With the endorsement of the Government and displays from the army and navy the exposition will promote industrial, economic, social and national safety.

The unusual number of exhibits leads the management to believe that the success this year will be even greater than that achieved by the former expositions.

Sanitation in the navy, hospital work in the army, an aeronautic exhibit under the direction of Henry Woodhouse and G. Douglas Wardrop, a national preparedness section in charge of a detail from the naval reserve, a field hospital from the War Department, exhibits designed to promote the safety, health, comfort, efficiency and culture of the family are some of the classifications.

SPIES AT BIRTH CONTROL TALK

Swann's Men Get Evidence at Union Square Meeting.

A crowd of several hundred persons swelled by plain clothes policemen, officers from the District Attorney's office, "movie" operators and newspaper reporters listened to the advocates of birth control voice their opinions in Union Square yesterday.

After the meeting Emma Goldman, 26a Bush and 261 Jefferson street, Brooklyn, committed suicide yesterday by inhaling illuminating gas. He was in good circumstances, but had been dependent since his wife died two months ago. It was his daily custom to visit her grave and he usually went early on Saturday. When neighbors failed to see him about yesterday morning they called a policeman, who broke into his room and found him lifeless on a couch in the kitchen.
